Grant Wood Area Education Agency Supporting Education

Grant Wood Area Education Agency (AEA 10) provides support to over 68,000 students and 5,000 teachers in 32 K-12 public school districts, 22 approved, nonpublic K-12 schools, preschools and daycare centers in Benton, Cedar, Iowa, Johnson, Jones, Linn, and Washington counties in east central Iowa.

As educational partners with schools, Grant Wood AEA helps students, school staffs, parents, and communities meet the growing challenges of accountability and student achievement. The agency provides special education support services, media and technology services, a variety of instructional services, professional development, and leadership to promote school improvement.

Unlike local school districts, the AEA system has no taxing authority. It is funded by a per-pupil assessment designated by the legislature, by federal funds from the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), various grants, and from sale of services. Grant Wood AEA receives approximately $35 million from local, state and federal sources to serve children with disabilities. The remainder of the agency's funding provides for media and a variety of educational services to schools and communities.

The following are just a few of the key roles the agency plays in the communities it serves:

- The AEA identifies the needs of children with disabilities and provides for or supplements a wide variety of services to meet those needs.
- The Agency offers professional skill-enhancements to teachers, including credit courses for licensure renewal.
- The AEA supports district personnel in curriculum and assessments.
- The agency provides a staff with specialized skills that many schools could not afford to have on their own.
- School districts benefit from shared resources such as videos and DVDs, educationally designed data bases and search engines for school libraries, and science kits for classroom instruction.
- Economical group purchasing by the AEA's saves local districts money.
- Schools also benefit from the agency's Computer Services and Technology Support areas.

Grant Wood AEA wants to be a partner with you and your school, and to provide you with the best available educational opportunities and resources. We welcome your call.

Regional Teams and Administrators

Each school district and accredited nonpublic school within Area 10 has an assigned Regional Administrator who coordinates and manages the staff and services for that district. See page 4 for an explanation, the list of Regional Administrators and a map of their assigned districts.

GWAEA Regional Administrators and Teams

Each school district and accredited private school within the seven-county service area has a Grant Wood AEA Regional Team and Regional Administrator.

The Regional Administrator is available to the administrative team of the school district to provide a ready link to all AEA services, to help organize the delivery of those services to schools, and to locate other resources that might be useful. They will collaborate with district personnel in the development of district-AEA service plans.

Regional Administrators are also knowledgeable about special education and school law, or know how to access the information quickly.

At the agency, Regional Administrators meet frequently and have quick access to agency administration. They are advocates for their districts and can be instrumental in the development of new or customized services or procedures. Meeting often with the administrative teams of their assigned districts and schools, they are familiar with the direction, goals and needs of the district, especially the components of the School Improvement Plan. Then they are able to suggest what AEA services might fit the district's goals and what ways could strengthen the school-AEA partnership.

Childcare Alliance Response Team (C.A.R.T.)

The Childcare Alliance Response Team (CART) provides intensive behavioral support for children ages 0-5, who are not identified as having special education needs. Children may be referred by childcare providers or parents for extremely challenging behaviors in their childcare setting. This program can be a support to parents who may be in danger of losing their employment if their child is unable to remain in their childcare setting. Because CART is a Linn, Johnson, and Washington County Community Empowerment Grant funded program, referrals to this program are limited to early care and education providers in Linn, Johnson, and Washington counties only.

As an early step in assessing needs, the Grant Wood AEA Communications Office staff will conduct internal and/or external communication audits with a district or building and its community. The audits provide insights into the effectiveness of communication and recommendations for improvement.

George Held, Communications Supervisor399-6714

Community Empowerment

Extended School Year Program Description

In meeting their obligation to offer each child with a disability a free, appropriate public education (FAPE), local school districts must make available programs and services that meet a child's individual needs. Some children may require the provision of services beyond the traditional school year. Such services are components known as extended school year (ESY) services. Federal and state law and regulations do not require that every student with a disability receive extended school year services. These decisions are made annually by each student's IEP team.
